

A New Home For Western Buddhist Practice In Sacramento

7,930 Square Feet on 1.7 Acres

Here it is - what we anticipate will be the new home of Western Buddhist Practice in Sacramento - Sacramento Buddhist Meditation Group (SBMG), Sacramento Insight Meditation (SIM) & Valley Streams Zen Sangha (VSZS).

The property is in escrow and due diligence is underway. If all goes well, SIM could be moving to the new Center sometime in the next 6 months.

To make this happen in a way that is financially comfortable, additional funding will be needed. The goal is $230,000. The move will also immediately increase SIM's budget expenses, meaning the need for increased monthly generosity from our community.

How do we deal with these two financial realities? We'll explore the potential answer as part of this evening's presentation and discussion.
